Dear [Redacted]

I am contacting you following your email of 22 June requesting re-use of information provided to you under the FOIA.

The Line of Route contains the generalised line of route which has been digitised by TfL for display purposes only in our Public Web-Map. The Zone of Influence (or Interest as we now call it) displays an approximate 10m buffer of the line of route to show TfL's interest in that land.

To be completely clear the GIS data provided to you is generalised and not accurate data.

However as both datasets are available publicly and can be licenced under the Transport Data Service: Transport Data Service - Transport for London (tfl.gov.uk) and The Open Government Licence: Open Government Licence (nationalarchives.gov.uk) we are happy to allow re-use as long as it is done so under the above licencing terms.

Sincerely
